

DANIEL J. DILUCCHIO

djdilucchio@altmanweil.com

Phone: 610.886.2012

Daniel J. DiLucchio, Jr. is a principal of Altman Weil, Inc. He has been providing management and consulting services to corporate law departments for over 30 years. His consulting practice includes areas of strategic and organizational importance to corporate law departments.

Mr. DiLucchio is also a Certified Master Coach and provides coaching services to law firm and law department leaders, including managing partners, general counsel and other high potential leaders.

Before joining Altman Weil, he was the Director of Management for the Pennsylvania Office of the Attorney General.

Mr. DiLucchio has had dozens of articles published in legal publications including National Law Journal, The American Lawyer, Corporate Counsel and many others. He is a speaker on management-related topics at conferences and meetings throughout the world, and is frequently quoted in the legal press. He is a Fellow in the College of Law Practice Management.

In addition to his consulting, Mr. DiLucchio serves on the adjunct faculty of the Organizational Leadership graduate program at Neumann University and has taught undergraduate courses in Business Ethics. In May 2014, he was named the Neumann University adjunct faculty member of the year and recipient of the 2014 Part-time Faculty Award for Excellence in Teaching. He is a member of the Delta Mu Delta International Honor Society.

He is a graduate of John Carroll University, holds an M.A. in Industrial Relations from St. Francis University, and has completed his doctoral course work at the University of Pennsylvania. Most recently Mr. DiLucchio attended the Harvard Business School Program, "Managing Professional Service Firms," as well as The MIT Sloan School of Management Executive Program, "Reinventing Your Business Strategy."

He has been designated a Certified Master Coach by the Behavioral Coaching Institute, and is a member of the International Coaching Council.